

Same Time Next Year

These aircraft, from turbofan-powered jets and canard-style designs to aerobatic trainers and folding-wing configurations, are among the diverse, colorful collection that ornaments the EAA grounds during EAA AirVenture Oshkosh each year. Like holiday decorations, they're stored away in the NASA exhibit building until the following year's aviation celebration.

Aircraft shown include the Williams V-Jet II (top left), Stits SA-11A Playmate (middle, yellow), Christen Eagle II (middle left), Starduster Too (front, red), Flightstar IISC (middle right, blue), Fairchild PT-19B (rear right, blue), and Grizzly 72 (far rear left, white).

For more information on these aircraft, visit www.AirVentureMuseum.org/Collection/Aircraft.

—Dana Heimos

Photo illustration by Jim Koepnick